

U. S. SOLDIERS IN THICKEST OF FIGHT

Reports of Infantrymen Killed In Action Indicates Fresh Reports

FORMER CHIEF OF STAFF WOOD INJURED

Five of Gen. Pershing's Men Hurt, Portion of Troops Completing Training

Washington, Jan. 28.—That a fresh announcement of American participation in actual battling will be forth coming soon was the belief of many here today.

This thought was strengthened by the fact that several infantrymen the past week have reported "killed or wounded in action," while Major General Leonard Wood has been hurt by an accidental explosion in France.

News of the wounding of Wood, former chief of staff, but now commander of Camp Funston, Kas., was included in a dispatch from American Headquarters telling that two of his staff, Lieut. Col. Kilbourne and Major Joyce and five French soldiers had been injured. Another dispatch from General Pershing related that five infantrymen had been hurt in action.

Where or how either of these incidents occurred was unrevealed.

Wood, like other general officers, has been having a chance to see the American training at close range in France, but the accident may have occurred at a point on the allied battle line.

The casualties of the past week indicate that a portion of the American forces may be finishing their training by having front line experience. Pershing has not illuminated his casualty reports, but is likely that the cases resulted from patrol clashes, or small trench raids.

REV. FINLAYSON ENTERS Y. M. C. A. WORK IN FRANCE

The pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. Finlayson, has been granted a leave of absence for a year's work with the Y. M. C. A. in France. He has had a very urgent call to this service from several of the leaders in the overseas work, one of these having been here several weeks ago, who found him specially fitted for a certain line of work.

REV. JOHN D. FINLAYSON, Th. D. This will be educational work in the rest camps behind the lines. He will be assistant to one of the most noted educators of this country who has charge of this branch of the Y. M. C. A. service. This will bring him in contact with hundreds of men from the trenches, and will afford opportunities for religious work. Last Thursday morning Dr. Finlayson received a call by wire to report in New York as soon as possible for this work, and the session, the church and congregation began very seriously to consider what a great loss it will be to have him away for a year, and at a meeting of the church Sunday morning granted his request very reluctantly, with the hope that in the months and years to come the church may be glad that it did what it could in this service to humanity. In giving up its pastor to a greater work in saving souls as well as lives, than could possibly be done here.

When he returns in a year, or less if the war should cease, he is assured of a hearty welcome. His pulpit service and pastoral work has won the esteem and love of his congregation, and he leaves the church well organized for aggressive work.

GERMANS ATTACK CZERNIN FOR HIS MILD ATTITUDE

Annexationist Organs Denounce Austro-Hungarian For Hint of Friendliness

SAY PRES. WILSON HAD COPY OF SPEECH

"Czernin's Fraternal Kiss For Wilson" is Heading of Article in Die Post

Amsterdam, Jan. 28.—German annexationist organs fairly outdid themselves today in denunciation of Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, for the hint made in his speech of negotiations with President Wilson. The climax was in the concluding statement of an article in the semi-official Cologne Gazette, that Count Czernin had sent the text of his address to Pres. Wilson in advance of its delivery.

"Count Czernin's offer to open negotiations with Wilson endangers Germany's life and interests," declared Count von Reventlow, foremost advocate of Prussianism.

"We do not trust Czernin," commented the Tagliche Rundschau.

The newspaper Die Post heads its violent attack on their Austro-Hungarian minister, "Czernin's fraternal kiss for Wilson."

JAPAN IS URGED TO ENTER INTO WAR WITH VIGOR

FOREIGN MINISTER OZAKI ENTERS ELOQUENT PLEA BEFORE HOUSE FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION

Tokio, Jan. 28.—An impassioned denunciation of the Terauchi ministry, and an eloquent plea that Japan enter more vigorously into the war for democracy was delivered today in the house of representatives by Former Minister of Justice Ozaki.

He lamented the "indifference to war" in Japan and demanded that the nation increase aid extended the allies, with whom he said relations were becoming strained due to the government's policy.

"The entente," he asserted, "is fighting for democracy, but the Japanese ministry represents militarism."

Ozaki urged that Japan state her war aims and wanted to know why it was that British and American warships were at Vladivostok, when Japan's agreement with America was to protect allied interests in the Pacific.

VACCINATION ORDER LIFTED

According to announcement of Superintendent Arbaugh today, all pupils who are remaining out of school because of general vaccination orders given two weeks ago by Health Physician Westfall, will be allowed to return to school Thursday unless conditions change in the meantime.

Should another case of smallpox appear at any pupil's home or should any pupil be exposed before that time the order will remain in effect for at least another 16-day period.

There have been no new cases since the one at Kim Back Inn two weeks ago.

GERMAN LABOR IS MAKING BIG DEMANDS

Ask More of Despot Than American Laborers Have Asked Of Their Democracy

DEMAND EIGHT HOURS DURING SIX DAYS

Day of Rest Through Week Demanded For Sunday Workers

Washington, Jan. 28.—An outline of revolutionary demands to be made on the kaiser's government by German labor, which reached the American government, shows that they are asking more of the despot than American labor has asked of its democracy.

This program may play an important part in settlement of the social unrest among the people in the Austro-German empires if they get the whiphand as a result of the social upheaval reported under way there.

The program provides for an eight hour day and a six day week. It prohibits all Sunday work except that absolutely necessary and provides for a day of rest during the week for Sunday workers. It prohibits night work except in a few cases where it is absolutely necessary, and which can be determined by law.

Women must not work more than eight hours a day, five days a week and not more than four hours on Saturdays or other days preceding holidays. Women must not be given work to take home with them.

The employment of women under this plan would be absolutely prohibited at night, on Sundays and holidays, on work which is damaging to health, and for six weeks prior to child birth, for 26 six weeks thereafter and during the next 26 weeks they may work only four hours a day.

No child under 15 could be employed in any kind of work. Those between 15 and 18 may not work more than six hours a day and these may not be employed at night, on Sundays or holidays in mines or on work dangerous to health.

Enforcement of the laws protecting labor in this way would be in the hands of inspectors chosen by the laborers themselves. Only women in inspectors would be permitted to inspect and pass on women's working conditions.

"The right to strike," says the plea, "must be freed from all restrictions and conceded without restrictions to all sections of the population."

Every place employing more than 20 persons must provide for a committee from the employees to have a voice in the treatment of the workers in the place by the employers. This committee would have a vote as powerful as that of the employers.

Workers interests would be protected in all government departments by fully authorized committees named from their membership by the workers themselves.

Insurance, which will guarantee every man and woman out of a job a place to eat and sleep and something to wear, would be provided by the government.

The government would be compelled to establish a ministry of workers social legislation.

In addition to this, there is long and detailed list of demands providing for the complete care of maimed and disabled soldiers, calculated to insure them and their dependents adequate care between the time they are discharged and the time they are fully re-established, as private citizens.

REV. MORRIS IS HONORED AT BIG FAREWELL SERVICE

SPLENDID WORK ACCOMPLISHED HERE REVIEWED, GOES FORTH WITH PRAYERS FOR HIS SUCCESS

With his congregation praying for his success and continued guidance in his new field, Rev. O. Lloyd Morris goes forth from this city to take up his work in a new field after establishing here an enviable record in ministerial accomplishments.

The Congregational church was crowded Sunday evening for the farewell service that marked his leaving. Other pastors of the city joined in devotionals of the service and Rev. Morris preached a brief but well chosen sermon. At its close Prof. Barbour announced other speakers who have been in closest touch with Rev. Morris and the work he has accomplished.

Rev. John D. Finlayson, who now becomes dean of Ypsilanti pastors, gave highest and thoroughly merited praise of Rev. Morris as a man and as a pastor, reflecting sentiment of the entire audience and many others as well, when he expressed deepest regret at his leaving.

Dr. B. L. D'Ooge characterized Rev. Morris as a man of unusual diplomacy, highest intellectuality and rare executive ability. In fitting manner Dr. D'Ooge paid high tributes to Rev. Morris reviewing briefly what he has accomplished for the church and the city since his election to the local pastorate where he was called upon recommendation of Dr. D'Ooge who first heard Rev. Morris in his church in Ohio.

Prof. Barbour in closing the service spoke briefly and the audience came forward to give Rev. and Mrs. Morris a farewell handshake and assurance of their earnest spiritual support.

Gifts of Remembrance

Following the service members of Rev. Morris' church and congregation and many other friends gathered in the Sunday school rooms to shake his hand in farewell. He was presented with a handsome clock by his church, Dr. N. A. Harvey making the presentation and Mrs. Morris was given a fine sepia reproduction of "The Chorister," Mrs. B. L. D'Ooge representing the church in the presentation. Rev. Morris and Mrs. Morris responded feelingly with appropriate words.

HOUSE CLEANING STARTED TO STOP SECRET LEAKS

Immediate Steps to be Taken By Members of the Federal Trade Commission

ONE HIGH OFFICIAL IS SLATED TO GO

Futher Sensational Developments Expected In Packing House Probe

Washington, Jan. 28.—An immediate "house cleaning" by the federal trade commission to check further leaks of important information, is to be undertaken.

One official at least is already slated to go.

Letters just unearthed in private files of Chicago meat packers during the progress of the commission's investigation show packers in August, 1916, obtained from secret files of the commission copy of a complaint of Representative Doolittle, Kansas, urging a probe of the packing houses.

R. C. McManus, special packer attorney, then in Washington, wrote Henry Veeder, personal secretary to J. Ogden Armour:

"Complaints filed with the federal trade commission are privileged and not available to the public. However, herewith is the Doolittle complaint."

Veeder, questioned by Special Investigator Twombly, when he discovered this letter, is believed to have named the official responsible for the leak.

Careful internal grooming of the entire commission staff was expected to discover just how far "slush funds" may have seeped through into the personnel.

Hearings in the packing house probe were to be continued today with further sensational developments in the congressional lobby.

Additional evidence tending to prove the existence of a gigantic buying combine, including all of the "big five" packers, will be submitted by Francis J. Henry, the commission's counsel.

Private correspondence, memoranda and records from the packers private offices are expected to disclose how the packers pooled their daily purchases and divided the animals on a pre-arranged percentage basis.

BAKER MAKES REPLY TO SENATE TODAY

PEACE BY THE SWORD TO BE GERMAN EFFORT

Great Attack Both by Land and Sea Is Expected According To Secy. Baker

NEW U-BOAT EXPLOITS ARE ANTICIPATED

Central Powers Are Determined to Break Steady Stream Of U. S. Transports

Washington, Jan. 28.—"Peace by the sword" will be Germany's next great effort in answer to the growing unrest among the peoples of the central empires. Official information reaching this government led Secretary of War Baker in his weekly review to state unqualifiedly that Germany is about to launch a great attack both by land and sea against her enemies.

February 1—the first anniversary of Germany's inauguration of ruthless submarine warfare—may be the date set for her next U-boat exploits. Baker classifies the German plans as heralding the most powerful submarine offensive yet undertaken.

His statement confirms United Press information sent out last week that Germany's recall of her U-boats forecast a great drive against allied naval forces guarding American troops and supply ships going to Europe. Baker declares Germany is determined to break the steady stream of these vessels. It is believed that she has enlarged the guns on her U-boats to give battle, possibly even with destroyers.

The naval forces of this country and the allies look with anticipation on the promised fray.

SECOND HEATLESS MONDAY FINDS EAST IN STORM

TEMPERATURE BELOW ZERO, RAILROAD TRAFFIC IS PUT INTO A HOPELESS TANGLE

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—The second heatless-workless Monday hit Philadelphia at forty miles an hour early today on the wings of a snowstorm that tied up traffic in a hopeless tangle. With the thermometer at ten degrees and the snow becoming an increasingly severe blizzard, all railroads were running on irregular schedule. The high wind drove the snow into shifting drifts.

New York, Jan. 28.—Heatless Monday today visited New York along with another big snowstorm. The snow was going strong early, with indications that it would continue.

Railway traffic, it was expected, would be hit heavily.

Crowd Gathers At Early Hour In Hope of Being Able To Hear Speech

ONE OF TWO BIG EVENTS SEEMS SURE TO FOLLOW

War Head Hopes, However, to Quiet Congressional Clamor For Change

Washington, Jan. 28.—Secretary of War Baker went to congress and the country with his answer to critics of the war department's work.

Long before 10:30 o'clock, the hour set for Baker's appearance before the senate military committee, hundreds of people crowded the corridors outside the little committee room, hoping to get in. Expectation of hearing facts about the army mobilization not yet told the country, drew many senators and congressmen from their labors elsewhere.

As a result of his dramatic appearance before the senate committee today, one of two things will happen. Either Baker will convince, and hush the outbreak of some in congress against the department and the president—or he will re-awaken the fires which have died down during the week-end recess.

Baker hopes his statement will quiet the congressional clamor for reorganization of the war department and simultaneously reassure the people of the country now more or less confused by exaggerated speech on both sides of the issue. His idea is not to defend the department but, admitting mistakes, to militantly challenge those who would belittle the job America has done.

Senate committee members expressed the hope that Baker will be able to satisfy them and the American people that he has measured up to his job. They expressed it great doubt, however, that he will disclose anything strong enough to counteract the evidence presented that weaknesses in the war department's business system demand legislation providing a director of munitions to supervise purchasing and a war cabinet to formulate policies and look ahead.

After Baker completes his statement today he will be cross-examined by members of the committee.

Baker was to reply today to the invitation of Representative Lunn, New York, to appear before the house military committee. He already has been invited before the house committee, but postponed his appearance with the understanding that the senate committee would arrange for him to address both committees and members of both houses today. The senate committee frowned on this plan and Baker's audience today was limited to the members of the senate committee and a few senators and house members. Lunn wrote Baker that the senate committee was a "packed jury" thoroughly unfriendly to him.

FROZEN BODY OF MISS TERESA O'BRIEN FOUND

JENNINGS CAMPBELL MAKES GRUESOME FIND THIS MORNING WHEN HE GOES FOR MAIL

The dead body of Miss Teresa O'Brien of Whitaker, was found this morning by Jennings Campbell when he went to his mail box a short distance from the Campbell residence about six miles south of Ypsilanti.

Mr. Campbell was unable to identify the body and others summoned also failed so it was brought to the undertaking rooms of J. Moore in Ypsilanti.

It was later learned that Miss O'Brien had left her home Saturday morning, presumably to visit friends near there, as had been her habit and it is believed, after her long walk, had fallen exhausted where the body was found.

Funeral services have not yet been arranged.

Even North Exposure
Rooms Can Be Kept Warm

It isn't any trick to keep all the rooms in the house warm if your home has Morgan Cold Weather Protection. Even those north exposure rooms which never would heat, now become just as comfortable as any room in the house even on the coldest of days.

Morgan Cold Weather

makes heat-retaining units or veritable air cells out of your windows and doors and furnishes better resistance against the outside cold than is offered by a solid wall. This dead-air space is a barrier to the outside cold and is a retainer for the inside heat.

Just think of the worry and extra work escaped in being able to heat your whole house all the time, and then remember that Morgan Cold Weather Protection pays for itself in the saving on coal bills. Our new booklet "Cold Weather Protection" tells all about this new system. Get your copy today. You'll be under no obligations to buy.

MISS GERTRUDE PEET WRITES
OF TRIP ACROSS SIBERIA

We would take them in Persia, but we cannot get them thru now.

It does not seem as tho we were very far away. People all over the world are friendly, if one will just let them be. There is no reason for being a stranger anywhere. We have so much fun smiling at people and watching them relax and smile back, even when we cannot understand each other's language. We have various languages among our party, as Hebrew, Syrian, Persian, Armenian, Turkish, French, German, Spanish, Arabic, and we have learned a little Japanese and Russian. The Russian alphabet is almost like ours, so we can make out some words quite easily. The Japanese ambassador to Russia is in the next room, here on the train.

We just took a run at a station—went thru the first and second class diningroom, then thru the third and there was quite a contrast. Went thru a station church and had a walk up and down the platform. We picked some nut chocolate. The five cent bars were only seventy-five cents. We wished we had bought more in Japan where the prices were more nearly like in America and in Switzerland, where the bars are made.

I almost forgot to say that there is a space above our section of the corridor (accessible from our siderooms) where we store our 24 pieces of hand baggage. Our baggage in the baggage car weighs only a ton. If things in western Persia have not cleared up, we may have to take the whole party on to Teheran with us. That will make quite a stage coach full. Mrs. Jordan says she enjoys that ride thru the mountains more than any other part of the trip.

Sunday morning—Reached Petrograd this morning. Four of us are resting in the lobby of the hotel across from the station, while Mrs. Jordan and the doctor hunt up the Y. M. C. A. and get rooms. This hotel is filled. Everything seems very quiet here. Altho we do not know Russian we are getting along very nicely. German is forbidden, of course, but is spoken some, if no other language will do. That letter from the Russian ambassador at Washington helps a great deal, and then, we are Americans. That helps most of all. America is simply idolized, on this side of the globe. To be an American is as good as being king.

We expect to leave here tomorrow. Have to get some military permits for the people going into Western Persia.

We really enjoyed the whole trip from Vladivostok. The scenery was very interesting. Those books I put in the last minute were very acceptable.

Two weeks from today we ought to be in Teheran. It seems a short trip from here.

A man who makes a specialty of antiques is going to Persia too. He was on the Empress of Asia, so we feel quite well acquainted. Has been traveling on our train for several days. Shall get the address of his New York studio, so that you can see his Persian rugs, etc. I imagine his prices are high; but his studio must be very interesting.

In Manchuria, an American Y. M. C. A. secretary came on the train to talk with any Americans he could find. Fortunately for us, he found us, at once. The relationship between the Americans and the Germans has become too friendly to suit the Kaiser and he has ordered the American secretaries to be replaced by Germans or Swedes. You see the camps furnish stationery, etc., and help the prisoners to have a good time. This man has been working in a German camp among German prisoners.

Last night at the station restaurant, the waiter got mixed up and thot that Mr. Crathers had not paid for his supper. A Russian saw the situation and informed the waiter that we were honest, that we were Americans. What do you think of that of the reputation of Americans. Everyone seems to feel that America is a great sponsor of fair play and will interfere anywhere that injustice is done. Last year in Persia an American missionary had all the money of the government of the province in a safe in his house. The Turks demanded the money. He told them it was in his safe and to take it. But as the safe was the property of a United States citizen and was in his house, they did not dare take it. Have found an excellent hotel.

Love to all.

GERTRUDE.
P. S.—Expect to leave here Wednesday evening. Have enough to eat.

MEN VOLUNTEERING THIS MORNING TO GO TO EDISON FARM UNABLE TO GET THRU DRIFTS

The snow storm and high wind Saturday has blocked the roads so that men who volunteered this morning to cut wood at the Edison farm were unable to get through. Sixty had volunteered to go today, but many of them refused to start and those who did start were forced to return. Another attempt will be made on Tuesday morning and teams will continue to leave the Edison office on Huron street every morning at 6:30 o'clock.

ORDERED HAMS FOR SOLDIERS AMOUNTING TO $100,000, SAYS BUSINESS NOW IS BAD

Dr. A. P. Squires of Denver, Colo., has been spending some time in the city, coming here as a representative of a dental parlous process concern.

Dr. Squires is 87 years of age and as active and spry as most men of fifty. He claims to be the oldest Gideonite living and is an interesting talker.

The dental sales business he says, is bad on account of the war, all young dentists having enlisted or being in the draft. He and a son have worked every state in the union but one.

Dr. Squires was a commissary sergeant in the civil war. He bought, he says, on one single occasion, hams for the government which cost approximately $100,000.

VALUABLE DOG, "NIPPER"

Well Bred Little Animal, Known By Many for Its Intelligence, Run Down

"Nipper," the valuable Boston bulldog owned by Atty. Tracy L. Towner, was run over Sunday by an automobile near the city hall and killed. The animal was well known here and in Ann Arbor. He seemed to have a passion for money and pocketbooks. On one occasion he came home and dropped a well masticated $2.00 bill at the feet of his master, and another time he came in with a pocketbook that he had either found or appropriated.

Once he was struck at by a drayman who had for his reward the loss of a new whip, which Nipper snatched as it came his way and carried off.

IN SPEECH BEFORE THE MAIN REICHSTAG COMMITTEE SATURDAY

Amsterdam, Jan. 28.—German Foreign Secretary Kuehlmann flatly disavowed annexationist principles in his speech before the Main Reichstag committee Saturday, according to details received here today.

The German minister was quoted as declaring:

"The declaration of Count Westarp (leader of the German conservatives) advocates seizure of territory based on our military successes. Such an attitude, for the present imperial government in view of all first principles is impossible from the outset."

Spasmodic economies sometimes involve the sacrifice of qualities, of VALUE, in the things bought. To study the ads is to know WHAT TO BUY as well as what price to pay.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Fresh Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids—Splendid for system.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome.

Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it is no longer a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is a splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

ADVERTISE DAILY

SAYS TRAINING WARRANTS TIME OF YOUNG MEN

PARENTS OF HOWARD COONEY, BRING GRAFITVING REPORT OF MILITARY LIFE AT THE GREAT LAKES STATION

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cooney have returned from visits at the home of Mrs. Alice Sullivan in Chicago and to the Great Lakes Training Station at Waukegan, Ill., where they went to see their son, Howard, who is in military training at that camp. They are much pleased with their trip thru this great naval station and report most wonderful order and discipline.

The mess room with its five hundred diners was spotlessly clean. It was bright and cheerful and the picture of the many happy patriots was one long to be remembered, they say. The drill room also came in for attention and is said by the officers in charge to be the largest in the world.

The "Y" and Knights of Columbus halls seemed favorite haunts, being always filled with men who were reading, writing, or being entertained by some sort of a worth-while entertainment.

Mr. Cooney has recently passed a severe physical examination and has been declared in perfect condition. He is enthusiastic over his war duties and says it is worth every man's while to get the discipline now being offered by the United States government.

J. WARNER MAKES A GOOD RECORD WITH HIS RIFLE

LACKS ONLY 13 POINTS OF QUALIFYING AS SHARPSHOOTER, IS IN LINE FOR ADVANCEMENT

James Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Warner, with three others of his company at the Marine Barracks, Parris Island, South Carolina, has attained qualifications required for entrance into the non-commissioned officers' school there and has already begun his new duties. Requirements for entrance are principally expert gun work. With a gun weighing nine pounds, which has the power to shoot three and a half miles Warner and his companions were each given 150 preliminary shots at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yard ranges. Then on record day, the men were each given 60 shots, each bullet-eye averaging five points. To be classed as a marksman, 202 points had to be made; the sharpshooters' class required 238 points and to be classed as an expert marksman 253 points were necessary. Warner scored 225 points.

Men in the first class receive $2.00 per month extra pay; in the second class $3.00 and in the third class $5.00. So, in addition to the honors and the school privileges, there will be extra pay for the successful young marksman.

At the finish of the new work, which will take from four to six weeks there will be an examination which if successfully passed will entitle the applicants the right to affix the title of corporal to their names.

In commenting on the shooting Warner writes, "When you get back 600 yards from the bulls-eye it doesn't look very big."

STRAY SHOT HITS M. GORKY

New York, Jan. 28.—Baseball men here today see in the request of managers and magnates that their players take daily exercise through the winter the end of southern training trips.
